In her latest collection of poems, Sea of Strangers, Lang Leav explores the universal themes of love, loss, and loneliness. The poems are written in a free verse style and are often characterized by their raw emotionality and confessional nature. Leav's writing has been praised for its honesty and vulnerability, and Sea of Strangers is sure to resonate with anyone who has ever experienced the pain of heartbreak or the ache of loneliness.

The poems in Sea of Strangers are divided into three sections: "Love," "Loss," and "Loneliness." The first section explores the different facets of love, from the initial euphoria of falling in love to the pain of heartbreak. The second section deals with the grief and loss that comes with the end of a relationship. The third section explores the feeling of loneliness that can come after a loss, as well as the hope and possibility of finding love again.

Leav's writing is both beautiful and heartbreaking. She has a gift for capturing the raw emotions of love, loss, and loneliness. Her poems are sure to stay with you long after you finish reading them.

Here are a few excerpts from the poems in Sea of Strangers:

"I am a sea of strangers, / drowning in a world of faces, / searching for a familiar shore." - from "Sea of Strangers"

"I have loved you in a thousand ways, / and in each way, I have lost you." - from "Love Lost"

"Loneliness is a cold, dark place, / where the only sound is the beating of your own heart." - from "Loneliness"

If you are looking for a collection of poems that will touch your heart and stay with you long after you finish reading them, then I highly recommend Sea of Strangers by Lang Leav.
